

In the woodruff library, Jane is struggling with her psychology readings and paper. A close-up of Jane: she knits the brows and scratches her head. And then she decides to get some tap water and takes a short break. When she comes back to her desk and sits down, she finds a note sticker on her desk. A close-up of the note: "Be as vigorous as the sunshine outside! You can do it! :)" There is no signature on the note, but a mark written on the lower right corner--radiant lines in a triangle which is encircled in an oval. Jane looks around, trying to find who has left the note on her desk, but everybody around her is just concentrating on his own work as he was previously. Jane picks up the note on the desk and looks at the words on the note. A close-up of Jane: A beam of sunlight falls on the smiling face of Jane through the window. And then Jane sits down and works on her readings and paper with energy and confidence.

It's one o'clock at night. And Jane is still studying for her Econ mid-term tomorrow in the library. And she just feels very tired and decides to have a cat nap at her desk. When she wakes up, she sees a note sticker on her desk. "Prepare better, exam better! You will do well in your exam!" These are the words appeared on the note. And again the same mark on the lower right corner of the note, just like a signature. Jane looks around. Again there's no one walking away from her desk. Everyone is doing his own work on his desk. She sits down and looks at the note on her desk. And she just feel warm and encouraged by the words on the note. Also, she is more curious about the person leaving notes to her... And later a shot to the grade of her exam: A...

Jane is on her PACE class. She is looking at the screen in the front. Suddenly, she glimpsed the man sitting in front of her drawing the mark which is the same as the one appeared on the notes. She is very excited and wants to chat him up. So she says "hi" to the man sitting in front of her and says "I really like the mark you are drawing. It's...s quite artistic, I think. Er, is there any meaning of it?" The man is a little bit surprised and replies to her, "actually, I just saw my deskmate in my sociology class always drawing this mark. So now I'm drawing this mark, too! I don't know what's the meaning, sorry!" "That's ok. Thank you!" Jane smiled awkwardly and feel a little upset.

One day, Jane is doing her work in library. Then she stands up and goes to the restroom. When she comes out of the restroom, she sees a man leaving a note on her desk and walking away from the desk with his back to her. So she walks quickly towards him and tries to call him. However, she just hits a guy who walks by side and bumps the books off his hands. She says sorry to the guy and stoops to pick up the books. And at the same time, hearing the noises behind, the man who has left a note to Jane turns around while Jane raises her head. And both of them look at each other and smile...

Some words appearing on the screen sentence by sentence: Care is all round. Some little things of kindness you do for others will encourage and help them a lot. Let's be caring and friendly! May life be full with care and love.

At Jazzman's, the man asks Jane," can I buy you a coffee?"